

NIATx Summit:

Amy Anderson ?:

I've never been around a conference for the entire time where everyone was so positive. Hear each other's stories, learn about each other's projects, share. So I emailed everyone I could, just to tell everyone that was just fabulous.

Melody Heaps-

We need to be leaders, we need to understand ourselves as leaders. As people who have something to contribute. Something that is of real value in our society.

Dr. Terry Cline-

So I encourage you, to take the lessons learned, from this conference, the things that you like that you hear, the things that challenge your current thinking that may move you to a different place. To think about how you can then take that information to home and make a difference in your communities.

Woman 1:

I would like to thank both SAAS and NIATx for this wonderful conference and this opportunity. I have been very inspired by the conference thus far. The speakers have been motivational, inspiring and I'm really enjoying the ability to look at the future of our profession and seeing what's out there.
